

BUSKING FOR REPARATIONS

Tuesday, May 21st

3:30-6:30 PM

Mechanics' Hall

519 Congress St. Portland, ME 04101

Busking for Reparations is a powerful platform that encourages dialogue, amplifying the ongoing conversation about reparations as direct payments for American Descendants of Slavery (ADOS) and the promise of sustainable repair. We invite you to be a part of this significant discourse, joining Portland Poet Laureate Maya Williams, the celebrated Samuel James, and the thought-provoking Assistant Professor Brian J Evans.

By request of the artists, masking is required indoors.

Made possible in collaboration with Mechanics' Hall.

Supported in part by the Bates Faculty Development Fund & The Ellis-Beauregard Foundation.
